

Creative Facilitation

Rekindling the Fire

Designing for

Engagement and Participation

ONE DAY WORKSHOP

Wednesday 26th June 2024

9.45 am to 4.30 pm

Kimmage Manor, Whitehall Road, D12P5YP

For whom is the workshop intended?

This workshop is primarily intended for people who have participated in Partners TtT Creative Facilitation course

Organised by Partners Training for Transformation

Kimmage Manor, Whitehall Road, D12 P5YP

You can book for this workshop by emailing partnerst4t@gmail.com.

Your place is confirmed on receipt of payment.

This workshop will have four elements

- Reflection and preparation: participants will have an opportunity to look back at events they have designed and completed and look forward and prepare for their upcoming events
- Case Studies: participants will be presented with scenarios for different events and invited to design appropriate processes
- Ways of Seeing: participants will be introduced to a range of frameworks that will help them identify key issues or themes needing attention in an event.
- Ways of Doing: participants will experience a range of methods that encourage participation and engagement.

The day will build on and develop work done on the original Creative Facilitation course. Participants will be aware that Partners seeks to promote a way of working that enables facilitators to be clearly focused on the event(s) they are working on, attentive to the group they are working with and mindful of the context they are working in.

Some comments from past Rekindling the Fire participants

It did what it said on the tin. My fire is rekindled.

Its not that I had gotten lazy, I work really hard. I just got stuck on doing the same stuff all the time. I just got off the treadmill and had a good think. I'm gonna try new stuff.

What I liked was just being in the same place with others who are trying to reflect. Just listening to others I began to get lots of new ideas about things I could do.

I never ever ever get a chance to stand back and reflect. I've just done it and I'm refreshed.

When and where will the course take place and how much will it cost?
